At MgWater, our experienced, professional team takes a holistic approach, leveraging extensive water industry experience and state-of-the-art technology to tackle your biggest challenges.

Delivering the highest quality, technical-grade magnesium product is a given, but that is only one of the factors that set us apart from other technologies. Teaming up with MgWater allows greater flexibility and peace of mind, because you can confidently count on our team, and our knowledge base, to provide you with exactly the information you need to improve operations, reduce costs, and preserve costly infrastructure. Better data leads to better decisions, and ultimately to an optimized end product – be it purer, more healthful drinking water for your community, or higher quality solids shipped to an end user or a landfill.
